

BLOODERCREAM

PRESS KIT

logline

Boy meets girl, girl meets... demonic cake?! When a playboy scoundrel disappears on a drinking bender, his heart-stricken lover is left to confront her inner demons (aaaaand her outer demons).

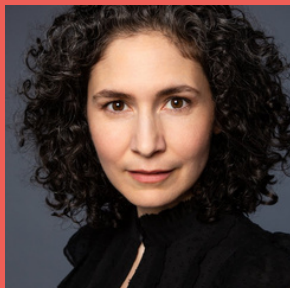

crew

Director/Writer/Editor: Elise Valderrama
Producer/Executive Producer: Lindsay Goldwert
Music Supervisor: Mark Dunn

synopsis

Bloodercream is an avant-garde slasher film inspired by the silent film era and the Dadaist movement. Influences include the works of George Méliès, Man Ray, Ray Harryhausen and more. Shot entirely on an iPhone, the film combines a variety of techniques including stop-motion animation and live action video. Though the film takes many surreal twist and turns, it is at it's core a love story--a very demented love story.

cast

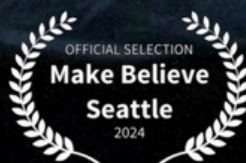

HANEEN ARAFAT MURPHY

PATRICK ROBINSON

ELISE VALDERRAMA

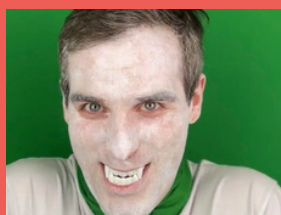

Director Info

Peruvian born, Miami raised, Elise Roedenbeck Valderrama has been making weird little films since she was a weird little girl. She holds a BFA in animation from the University of Central Florida and an MFA in video art from the School Visual Arts. She works and lives in Jersey City, NJ.

Producer Info

Lindsay Goldwert is an editorial director, writer and the author of Bow Down: Lessons from Dominatrixes on How to Be a Boss in Life, Love and Work (Simon & Schuster, January 2020). She lives in Queens with her husband and a slightly dented cat.

contact

General Inquiries:
elise.valderrama@gmail.com

Trailer Link:
<https://vimeo.com/830268580>

praise

- "Super weird and dark but also hot."
-Sean Morrow, writer & reporter.
- "There is real tortured feeling in there, but just as much style, humor, and innovation!"
-Guy Maddin, director.